

My presentation was on Adipoli jQuery Plugin, which is a plugin for hover effects on images. The plugin is very easy to use, the images that will be used just need to be given an ID, then that ID will be used in the JavaScript code. I chose this plugin because I like presentational tools and having this feature in a gallery will make a site better for the eyes.

The images I used were taken from <http://search.creativecommons.org/> I clicked on Google Images and unchecked “use for commercial purposes;”, and “modify, adapt, or build upon”.

I searched “harry potter”, “one piece”, “scenery”, “funny memes”, “hilarious memes”, “dragonball”, and others I cannot remember at this moment. At the top of the search results it says “labeled for reuse”.
